A Chambermaid Succeeded in Making a Stubborn Chinese Understand. (San Francisco Call.) Major-General Merritt, grim old war-

days which will mark the continuance of VIRGINIA'S FAIR SPONSOR.

Much of the interest manifested, how-ever, in Virginia's representation centres in the choice of the young ladies who will lend their graces to the occasion, as the spensor and maids of honor, of the Division of the Old Dominion.

To fill the coveted place of sponsor

Miss Mattle Walson, of Petersburg, has been appointed by General Brander, as has been already announced, and most worthly does she bear the honor thus conferred upon her. She is indeed a fitting representative of her native State home city, but also throughout the Stat and South, have been showering her with the most hearty congratulations.

Miss Watson is a daughter of Mr.

Confederate veteran, and an active mem ber of A. P. Hill Camp. Her appoint-ment as sponsor was made upon recom-mendation of A. P. Hill Camp, to whom the privilege of bestowing this honor was given. In the grace and beauty which distinguish her person, in nobility of character and culture of mind, in the harm and becoming dignity that always mark her presence, in her varied accom-plishments and delightful conversation, Miss Watson is a true type of that noble southern womanhood which is ever recognized and honored.

While one of the brightest ornaments in the charmed and cultivated society circles of the Cockade City, Miss Watson's acquaintance and popularity extend throughout the State. The honor of representing the glorious old mother of States at the great reunion of south-ern patriots and heroes will be worthing orne and sustained.
The compliment so gracefully bestow

d on Miss Watson is not only highly appreciated by her, but is gratefully a enqwledged by the community in which she resides, and where she is universally known and beloved.

PRETTY MAIDS OF HONOR. To Miss Watson was left the choice o her maids of honor, and as such she chose Miss Lizzie Pickett, a daughter of Major Charles Pickett, and a niece C Beneral George E. Pickett, and one of Norfolk's most charming daughters. The ce of the remaining ten maids of honor representing the congressional dis-tricts of the State was intrusted, in common with that of the sponsorship, General Brander. Those from whom he Suggestion that He May Give Way in Interest of Harmony.

A prominent Republican said yesterday that the differences in the party would, he thought, be satisfactorily adjusted. "The quarrel is not with Colonel Wickham, who has been holsted into the chair of the disgruntled faction," he continued. "but with the power behind the throne-Dick Wise and Jim Walker, who had no share in the patronage of the party." Colonel Wickham, it is thought, may re-cede from the position he has taken in the controversy, and he would then be welcomed with open arms into that organization which, since it is recognized by the National Committee and by the President, may be reckoned as the prop-erly constituted authority in the affairs of the party in this State. It is said Congressmen Thorp, Walker, Wise, and Yost will use their influence with the President and Chairman Hanna with a view to inducing them to use their

A VISIT OF A MINUTE, BUT LIVELY WHILE IT LASTED.

A FUNNEL-SHAPED CLOUD'S WORK

Ripped Off the Roof and Upper Story chlnery's Aerial Voyage-No One

DANVILLE, VA., June 25 .- (Special.)-A heavy thunder-storm, which struck this city at 5:30 this afternoon, was preceded by a veritable cyclone, which covered a very small area, but in less than a minute did some $6,000 of damage.

The funnel-shape wind-cloud reached Danville from the northwest, high up, and dipped down in a yard in the rear of stores in the business centre of the city. Rising immediately, it snapped off two trees as though they were twigs, and then rising above the houses in the immediate vicinity, went in an easterly direction. The roof and upper story of the five-story brick tobacco factory of Gravely & Miller received the full force of the cyclone, and were in a twinkling blown Hun-dreds of pounds of loose tobacco stored in the upper part of the building was carried away by the wind.

NO ONE INJURED.

At the time only two persons were in the factory, and they being on the ground floor, escaped injury. Miraculous to relate, no person was injured, though the occupants of the two houses crushed in had narrow escapes. Two other tobacco had narrow escapes. Two other tobacco factories were slightly damaged. The total damage, as now estimated, will be $6,000. It may be that the walls of the Miller & Gravely factory will have to be torn down, as they appear to be badly damaged. Damage in other parts of the city amounted to nothing.

Another Embarkation of Troops from Newport News.

NEWPORT NEWS, VA., June 25 .- (Spe cial.)-The Ninth Regiment of Massachusetts Infantry, United States Volunteers, arrived in this city this morning at 7 o'clock, from Camp Alger, Va., and three hours later two battalions of the Thirty-fourth Michigan Infantry came in over the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad. Both commands embarked on the Harvard this stternoon, and it is expected that the cruiser will start on her journey to Santiago either to-night or at daybreak

The first military train to arrive this morning came in at 3 A. M., and was made up of two cars loaded with cartridges to be sent to Cuba with the troops, being the apportionment for the Massa-chusetts and Michigan regiments. Congress did precisely the right thing in deciding to give the people a chance to take the new war loan, or such part of it as they may want, in preference to banking and may want, in preference to making and trust corporations. Not that there is any objection to the holding of government securities by such corporations, for when thus held they represent the savings of the thrifty just as certainly as they do in the hands of the masses But inasmuch as there is a popular feel-ing in favor of bonds of small denomi-nations, so that the prudent workingmen, the small farmers, the teachers, clerks, and others of limited means may invest in them, it is well that Congress has decreed that the new issue shall be In denominations of $20 and upward. If a nation with the securities will be a long to the luxury of the luxury securities. tion must have a debt, it is always good policy to owe its own citizens rather than foreigners. And the more widely a national debt is distributed among the people the better for the nation. If 5,000.heads of families in the United States owned only one $20 bond each, we should hear much less grumbling over fancied wrongs. A government is strengthened by making the people its creditors. A new sense of responsibility is awakened in the mind of the citizen when he becomes one of the nation's bankers by advancing his savings and accepting a bond. There is no safer investment than these securities present. The piedge of the most richly endowed nation en earth is behind them. The record of our gov-

"It was with much reluctance," said ne, "that I bade my comrades-in-arms good-by. I shall again return to the ser-vice and assist them in our country's efforts to wipe Spain from off the map. I have experienced hardships, it is true, for during action on board my ship, the monitor Amphirite, she is a living hell. Down in the hold I have stood for hours, and even days, clad only in pants and and even days, clad only in pants and shoes, and enduring a temperature at many times as high as 200 degrees. But while shot and shell whistled humble tunes above us, we became inspired in our efforts for success, and at the con-clusion of our bombarding, which has always been successful, to a man, a hearty cheer was always given.

Amphitrite, and while our ship is only said to be a coast-defence vessel, it is necessary to contradict that, for she has acted as a cruiser at least once, and was the first ship to capture two Spanish offi-cers, who were in a launch cruising around Matanzas, an act for which the men aboard her have received no credit." Now, in these days, when the nation is at war, incidents are multiplying giving the world an object-lesson of the unifi-cation of the country and the ardent patriotism of the people of every section when the grandson of Grant is fighting under the standard of a Lee, and when the grandson of Mrs. Surratt, the innothe grandson of Mrs. Surratt, the inno-cent victim of the bitterness of the civil-war period, are following the standard of a son of Grant; when the southerner Bagley is the first to spill his blood in upholding the honor of his country, and Southerner Hobson has thrilled the world Southerner Hobson has thrilled the world by an achievement which has never been paralleled in all history, would it not be in keeping with the spirit of the times, and in unison with the daily doings which proclaim the realization of the dearest hopes of the men who led and fought on both sides of the civil war, if, by act of Congress, or order of the War Department, the name of "Jefferson Davis, Secretary of War," be restored to the Cabin John slab, and so forever destroy the conspicuousness of the act which, through bitterness, now happily forgot, attempted bitterness, now happily forgot, attem to destroy a part of the history of the nation?
